I am writing with regards to the Freeview LCN Consultation in concern with the issue of BBC Four.

To me it seems entirely senseless to shuffle all channels down one number, mainly because these channels have been in these positions for years and secondly because some have a meaning of significance, for example ITV4 on 24, ITV +1 on 33 and 4seven on 47.

My proposed idea would be to move the BBC Studios owned Dave to channel 68 in Scotland only, freeing up channel 19 for which BBC Four could be allocated in Scotland, this would then have significance as it would be on channel 9 in all regions except Scotland, for which in Scotland it would be on channel 19, maintaining some continuity. This to me seems like a reasonable and simple solution.
